Market Challenge

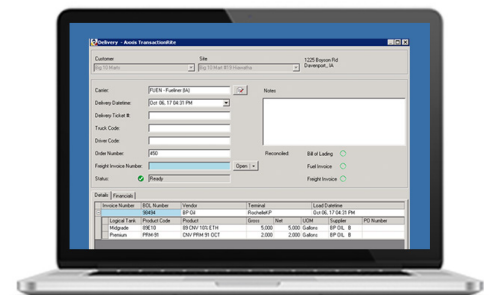

Transaction processing is a time-consuming chore for accounting, operations and dispatch teams at fuel companies. Documents come from different sources, at different times and at different levels of machine readability. For companies moving as few as 10 loads of fuel per day, the paperwork trail becomes almost impossible to manage manually.

How We Help

The TransactionRite module of Axxis Software automatically captures documents such as eBOLs, Invoices, credit card memos, EFTs, Secret Shopper reports and delivery tickets from messaging services, supplier websites and emails. The tool then translates and normalizes the data for accounting systems, reducing manual effort and allowing easy analysis, archiving, exporting and publishing.

Benefits

- Reconcile accounts payable with electronic capture of invoices with automatic transfer to accounting systems.
- Access complete delivery information to accelerate the billing and collection cycle.
- Use OCR (Optical Character Recognition) to scan and validate non-electronic documents, including exception reporting of missing or questionable data.
